

Key. Every box is a component; the fill says where it sits, and the tsam package boundary says the same thing again so a greyscale print still reads. + marks public API — the second compartment lists exactly what `tsam.__all__` exports, so a component without one is internal. A dashed line with an open arrowhead is a «use» dependency; the ball is a provided interface. Configuration and Commons are used by every building block; those arrows are omitted for clarity, as are numpy and pandas.
